

Iterative Review Metrics

Heuristica's legal team is fully trained to utilize the robust functionality of RelativityOne during the course of a review. Our approach combines first and second level review, complete privilege identification and includes organization for witness preparation and interrogatories. Examples of our review metrics include:

Construction Arbitration

This review for a construction arbitration included over 35 issues and sub-issues, plus organization by document categories such as meeting minutes, schedules, and daily reports. Detailed privilege schedules/logs were created. The team also identified documents required for affidavit evidence and interrogatories.

1.3m records post processing on targeted collection

900k records post deduplication

2096 review hours

Financial Regulatory Investigation

This matter involved the legal review of converted Bloomberg chat and messages in a regulatory investigation involving "trader chat". The challenge included manipulating the data into a more easily readable format and the identification of concepts in chat and short form communications. The legal team conducted a first level and privilege review in response to a subpoena.

Over 10m records post processing

5.4m records post deduplication

534 review hours

Commercial Litigation

This review for commercial litigation involved 49 issue and sub-issue codes, detailed privilege review and organization for witness preparation and initial set up in Case Dynamics.

1.25m records post processing on targeted collection
932k records post deduplication
686 review hours

Toronto

655 Bay Street, Suite 400
Toronto, Ontario, M5G 2K4

Calgary

555 4th Ave. SW, Suite 1620
Calgary, Alberta, T2P 3E7

1-833-435-4321 | info@discoverycounsel.ca | www.heuristica.ca

Heu·ris·tic – (pronounced hyu-RIS-tik and from the Greek “heuriskein” meaning “to discover”) pertaining to a process of gaining knowledge or a desired result through learning, problem solving, and intelligent analysis drawn from experience.

Heu·ris·tic·a – (pronounced hyu-RIS-tik-ah) a law firm dedicated to performing intelligent, proportionate and cost-efficient discovery projects using advanced analytical techniques and technology.